

Planview Business Travel and Expense Policy and Procedures

Effective August 31, 2015

Objective

Planview’s corporate vision is to realize the resource potential of every organization – including our own. This travel and expense policy strives to strike the appropriate balance between the following goals:

- Ensure that our policies and tools support and enable employees in performing their best in the office and while traveling on Company business; and
- Ensure that we are efficiently and effectively managing our time and resources.

We recognize the need for travel to grow the business and support our missions, which is to deliver solutions that optimize resources and work, empowering teams and organizations to achieve their goals. However, we must ensure that our travel dollars are managed in compliance with the company’s travel policy and best practices.

Thank you for your commitment to further Planview’s mission, vision and values through your thoughtful use of the Company’s resources when traveling or incurring expenses in support of company-related business.

As with any policy or process, we will look to continuously improve upon this policy, including preferred vendors, with rate and service level benefits. If you are aware of such opportunities or have other feedback, please direct feedback at:

Business Travel and Expense Policy

Policy Overview

Purpose

The purpose of this document is to outline the policy for reimbursement of reasonable and necessary business expenses incurred by employees to further Planview's business objectives and to ensure fair, consistent and effective control of expenses. Additionally, Planview recognizes that circumstances occasionally warrant exceptions and so the policy and process accommodate exception handling.

Scope

This policy applies to all employees of Planview (the Company) and its affiliates. Additionally, all third-party contractors and consultants are subject to this travel policy and accordingly, a copy of this policy must be provided to them prior to the commencement of travel on behalf of the Company. Planview employees performing customer billable travel should also ensure adherence to specific guidelines and instructions regarding travel and living expenses in Appendix A.

Principles

This policy is designed to accomplish the following key items:

- Ensure all employees possess a clear and concise understanding of the policies and procedures for business travel and expenses;
- Ensure employees are reimbursed for legitimate business travel and related expenses;
- Provide employees with a reasonable level of service and comfort at the lowest possible cost to the Company;
- Maximize the Company's ability to negotiate discounted rates with preferred suppliers; and
- Provide an adequate level of controls for the Company to ensure that expenses are reviewed and approved in accordance with the Company's approval guidelines.

Compliance

It is the responsibility of each employee to:

- Understand and comply with this policy to ensure reimbursement for business-related travel and entertainment expenses. The Company reserves the right to not reimburse travelers for expenses incurred outside of this policy;
- Manage and control business travel and entertainment costs;
- Ensure business travel and entertainment expenses are appropriate and consistent with business needs;
- Adhere to the procedures outlined in this policy; and
- Accurately document expense reports, with appropriate receipts, and submit them in a timely manner consistent with the guidelines outlined in this policy.

Questions to Ask Before you Travel

- Is travel necessary? Can you accomplish your end goal without physically being at a destination?
- Can you achieve your objectives via telephone or video conference? Employees must first consider if a telephone or video conference call can satisfy the objectives of an off-site meeting prior to making travel arrangements. The potential benefits of the trip should clearly justify the expense to the Company. Web cameras and Audio/Web Conferencing are excellent ways to communicate face to face with other employees or business associates without incurring travel costs. To get an account set up please submit a ticket via concuradmin@planview.com.
- Have you allowed for a 14 day advance purchase (or greater) of your ticket?
- Are all the people being invited to a meeting, customer site, etc. necessary to achieve the objective?
- Are you taking the lowest cost option or are you flying your "preferred airline" to collect miles?

Approvals

The traveler is responsible for complying with this Business Travel and Expense Policy. The Manager who approves a traveler's expense report is responsible for accurately reviewing expense reports for compliance and adherence to the policies.

The Company's travel solution combines Ultramar Travel ("Ultramar") as our travel vendor and Concur Travel & Expense ("Concur") as the expense processing system. Use of Planview's travel vendor is mandatory. All travel arrangements, including airline, hotel and rental car reservations, not made through the approved travel vendor will require pre-approval from the CFO prior to purchasing.

All trips must be made with prior approval of the employee's immediate Manager. Trips and reimbursement arrangements that combine personal and business travel must be approved in advance and in writing by the department EVP.

Expense reimbursements will be approved by the employee's immediate Manager. Occasionally, the accounts payable department may require the employee to obtain additional approvals prior to the expense being reimbursed based on the nature and/or level of the expense. The approval routings will be handled by the Ultramar/Concur system and accounts payable.

If CFO approval is required and not otherwise automated in the process, please e-mail at concuradmin@planview.com.

Booking Travel

The online booking system can be accessed at <https://sso.ultramarttravel.com/>. This is the preferred method and should be the first means by which all travel is booked. The phone option should only be utilized as a last resort or for emergencies.

Expense Report Submission

Travel and Expense (T&E) reports must be completed and submitted through the Concur system. To ensure timely reimbursement the following conditions must be met:

- The report has been submitted via the Concur system;
- The report has been reviewed and approved by the Manager via the Concur system;
- Legible and complete copies of all required support (attached electronic copies, scanned copies or faxed copies of receipts) for the expenses are submitted with the expense report in Concur;
- The requested reimbursements comply with the current Travel Expense policies and conditions:
 - Expenses must be submitted within forty-five (45) days of being incurred to be eligible for reimbursement
 - Claims older than 45 days from the date the expense was incurred will not be reimbursed

Expense Report Documentation requirements

- Electronic, scanned original or faxed original dated itemized receipts are required
 - Expenses under $15.00 do not require receipts (U.S. employees only)
- Receipts must be submitted with the expense report in a format that is legible, complete and matches the expenses being requested for reimbursement – credit card imports or statements are not acceptable forms of documentation

When submitting hotel expenses, employee must separate meals and incidental room charges from the room rate. It is acceptable to leave room taxes with the nightly room rate charges.

Reimbursed travel expenses are subject to examination by local tax authorities. To the extent that such reimbursed expenses are found to have been lavish or extravagant in nature, or have not been properly accounted for, or otherwise do not conform to these policies, such reimbursed expenses could be disallowed by the local tax authority as “travel expenses” and considered to be “compensation” to the employee. In the event of a tax audit adjustment or discovery of an error resulting in overpayment of a reimbursed item, employees must return any amounts paid to the employee in excess of substantiated, business-purpose expenses, within a two month period. The final responsibility for satisfying the local tax authority guidelines for business expenses rests with the employee.

Air Transportation

No travel where one segment exceeds 6 hours shall be undertaken unless pre-approved by the Department EVP. For purposes of this policy, international travel for US employees is travel outside of the United States or Canada. No other travel shall be undertaken unless approved by the immediate Manager.

The request for approval must include:

- Purpose of the trip, including the persons or companies to be visited
- Time and duration of the trip
- Travel destination
- Budget (max price allowed)

In determining the reasonableness and necessity of travel expenses, employees and approving managers shall consider ways in which the Company will benefit from the travel and weigh those benefits against the anticipated costs of the travel. Managers and employees should consider whether a meeting can be conducted by video conference or teleconference and achieve the desired result.

Air Travel

All reservations must be booked through Ultramar's online booking system and should be made as far in advance as possible in order to take advantage of the best rates. Your best chances to obtain the lowest fares are for reservations made at least fourteen (14) days in advance. Employees are expected to utilize the lowest cost fares with routings (one stop or less) that do not create a significant inconvenience or additional time commitment. The savings should be considered before declining any option offered. If you choose a flight that is $150 greater than the lowest logical fare, you will be required to select a reason code for not choosing the lowest fare and must provide an explanation in the comment field. Acceptable reasons for selecting a higher fare include:

- Impending bad weather forced me to leave early
- Missed original flight and have a meeting at the next stop
- Connection times too close for this airport
- Flight cancellation caused a change in plans
- Least cost flights could not get to my destination in time

Airfare Approval Process

Airfare exceptions require the following approvals prior to purchase:

- Tickets purchased with less than 14 days advance notice require department EVP approval
- Tickets purchased with less than 7 days advance notice require CFO approval
- Concur is configured by region to provide flexibility relative to least cost logical airfare options and changes to tickets after purchase
 - For U.S. employees, tickets greater than $150 over least cost logical recommendation for domestic travel and $250 for international travel require Concur Admin approval; tickets greater than $250 (domestic) and $350 (international) over the least cost logical recommendation require CFO approval
 - Changes to tickets after purchase must be approved by their Manager

- For U.S. employees, changes to tickets after purchase, which result in additional expense above $200 require CFO approval
- Other countries will have similarly leveled flexibility, programmed in local currency

Class of Service

Domestic and International flights: Economy class

Nonrefundable tickets are mandatory. First and Business class travel is not permitted. The Company does not reimburse fees charged for upgrades. For flights exceeding 6 hours, Premium Economy class may be selected, subject to EVP pre-approval. The Company does not authorize the use of personal credit vouchers or earned travel points for business travel. If used to purchase a ticket, the cost will not be reimbursed.

Traveling employees may retain frequent flyer program benefits. However, participation in such programs must not influence flight selection that would result in incremental cost to the Company within the guidelines outlined above.

Inflight internet on flights exceeding 2 hours may be reimbursed, up to an amount not to exceed a per month amount ($50/month in the U.S.). Frequent travelers should consider purchasing a monthly plan to stay within this limit.

Cancellations/Unused tickets

When booking a flight you will be asked by the system to use any unused tickets first. Most unused tickets expire within twelve months of the canceled trip. The Company will periodically audit reports of unused tickets.

Group travel restrictions

No more than three (3) corporate officers, vice presidents or above, or more than fifteen (15) employees may travel on the same aircraft. In addition, no more than 3 employees or 25% from one department, whichever is greater, may travel on the same aircraft.

Ground Transportation

The most cost-effective, safe, and efficient ground transportation is to be used. Unless a rental car is necessary for the business purpose of the trip or the only alternative, taxi service or its equivalent should be the first choice for ground transportation. UberX or Uber Taxi is a permitted class of transportation.

All employees must comply with local regulations regarding the use of mobile phones while operating a vehicle.

Car Rentals

Cars must be reserved through Ultramar and the most economical vendor option should be chosen. Economy, intermediate or mid-size models are acceptable, except when there are more than four (4) passengers -- in such case, full-size models (excluding luxury models) are acceptable.

Employees should review the rental car invoice when returning the vehicle to ensure that the correct rate was obtained and charges were not made for services not used.

Every effort should be made to refuel prior to returning the vehicle to eliminate the high refueling charge of the rental company.

For U.S. employees, the Company maintains auto insurance for employees traveling on business within North America therefore additional coverage offered by any car rental companies must be declined. For travel in countries outside the U.S., please obtain specific details from your local Finance or HR department.

Accidents occurring in rental cars should be reported to the rental agency, the insurance company and the Company's HR department.

Other Ground Transportation

The following documentation must be provided to support expenditures as listed below:

- Taxi cabs/Buses/Shuttles/Uber – original receipts showing date, rate, purpose and destination. The actual amount will be reimbursed plus a reasonable gratuity.
- Rail/Train – original receipt. Class of service guidelines are the same as those for Airfare outlined above.
- Tolls/Parking – original receipt. Employees should use the most economical option of airport parking offered.
- For company travel to cover fuel and vehicle usage costs. No additional reimbursement will be made for fuel receipts on personal vehicles.

Use of Personal Auto

Employees utilizing their personal auto for Company business have the responsibility to carry adequate insurance coverage (as defined by your local Finance or HR department), maintain a valid driver's license and comply with all local traffic laws and regulations. Upon request, the employee must produce proof of coverage. The Company will not reimburse any deductibles or uninsured damages that might be incurred during business travel. Personal auto should not exceed 250 miles one-way considering the cost which would be incurred for extra travel time, meals, lodging, and auto reimbursement or the expenses related to personal auto travel.

Use of a personal auto at base location for commuting to and from the office is not a reimbursable expense. Mileage to and from employee's local airport is analogous to travel to the office and will not be reimbursed. Mileage will be reimbursed for US employees at the IRS-mandated reimbursement rates, which can be found at the <http://www.irs.gov/Tax-Professionals/Standard-Mileage-Rates/>.

Employees outside of the US will be reimbursed at rates mandated by local law. Please see your local Finance department for the applicable rate.

The use of car services and limos will not be reimbursed.

Lodging

All hotel arrangements must be made through Ultramar. In policy hotels will be shown with a green reserve button. Any out-of-policy reservations will require a reason code to be selected and an explanation provided in the comment field – any such exceptions will require pre-approval.

Many hotels have frequent guest programs that reward travelers with free accommodation in exchange for a given number of paid room nights at the hotel. Awards for such programs may be retained by travelers for personal use.

Conferences/Conventions

When attendance at a convention, seminar or other business event requires the employee stay at a designated hotel, the employee must obtain pre-approval from their immediate Manager, with supporting documentation if the nightly rate exceeds the Company policy. Approvals and supporting documentation must be submitted through Concur with the applicable expense report.

Cancellations

Reservations should be made with as much flexibility as possible so that penalties are not incurred. Prepaid hotel reservations should only be booked if no other option is available and prepaid hotel charges are not reimbursed in advance.

If an employee needs to cancel a hotel reservation, he/she should do so through the Ultramar website (or method used to originally book the reservation).

Documentation

An itemized hotel receipt is required. When reporting hotel charges on an expense report, only the room rate and tax are to be included as hotel expense. Meals, telephone, and other hotel charges are to be reported in their respective places on the expense report.

Personal expenses (mini-bar bills not reportable as a meal, in-room movies, gift shop charges, etc.) are not reimbursable.

Meals

The Company will only reimburse actual expensed incurred for meals. The cost of meals differs widely depending on the city and country. Employees must provide the following information in order to be reimbursed for any business-related meals and /or entertainment expenditures:

- Name of all individuals present, including their title and company name if applicable
- Detailed receipt of all items consumed (a credit card receipt is not a detailed receipt)
 - For U.S. employees, receipts are not required for meals under $15

Planview requires that all employees use discretion and abide by all laws when consuming alcohol on company business.

While on Business Travel

For meals incurred on business, accompanied by receipts, the daily maximum for all meals combined should not exceed $100 per day.

For certain countries (based on country of employment), in lieu of submitting receipts, a per diem amount may be substituted. For example, $75 per day for U.S. travel. Country specific details are available from your local Finance or HR department.

Business Meals - Clients

In the course of conducting business, it is sometimes necessary to entertain clients. Local tax authorities may have established firm policies for the deductibility of these expenses. A business meal expense is defined as "an expense associated with a business discussion, which is held for the purpose of achieving Company objectives." Business discussions must occur during, immediately preceding or following the entertainment and the setting must be conducive to such a discussion.

Documentation must be maintained to substantiate this requirement. This includes:

- Date and place of entertainment
- Nature of the business discussion
- Name, title and business relationship of attendees
- Cost of entertainment
- Attached itemized detail receipts

Any meal for a non-business guest is considered personal expenses and is not reimbursable.

Client Entertaining

Entertainment over and above a Business Meal expense (detailed above) requires EVP pre-approval (must include with the expense report for reimbursement).

Telephone

Telephone calls for business purposes while traveling are authorized and will be reimbursed upon submission of an approved expense report. Employees with Company reimbursed cell phones are expected to use their cell phone as their primary phone while traveling and are of course subject to the respective mobile device policy. We expect employees to use good judgment in frequency and length of personal calls. Due to the service charges imposed by hotels, calls that are charged to the hotel will not be reimbursed if the traveler holds a company-reimbursed cell phone.

Limit calls, texts and data usage as they are extremely expensive. Please use Wi-Fi whenever available.

U.S. employees who are on a Planview mobile plan should follow these guidelines when traveling internationally:

Submit a request at least one week in advance of travel, and include the dates and location of your travel to internalrequest@planview.com.

Home Office

Home Office expense is potentially applicable to employees who utilize their home as their primary office and do not have dedicated space at a corporate office location. Eligibility is subject to immediate Manager approval.

Home Telephone & Broadband

Employees who are eligible for Home Office expense will receive a monthly stipend as a contribution to related expense. The stipend will be included in payroll, so no expense reporting will be required. The amount will vary by country, so as to comply with local tax and legal regulations and locally denominated currency. Additionally, the stipend will vary, within each country, based on whether the employee has a company sponsored cell phone; when the employee has a company sponsored cell phone, the stipend will be reduced so as to cover Broadband or internet access only. As an example, the U.S. stipend rates will be:

- $75/month for Home Telephone & Broadband
 - Long distance charges for business calls are to be expensed via Concur
 - Receipt must be included and must not duplicate basic service
 - Lync / Skype is the first option for all international calls
 - Conferencing bridges should only be used for 4 or more callers
- $50/month for Broadband

Office Supplies

Employees who are eligible for Home Office expense will be reimbursed for reasonable expenses related to home office supplies. Examples include stationary, printer cartridges, paper, pens, etc. Expenses must be accompanied by a receipt.

Miscellaneous Travel Expenses

Visas

Fees associated with obtaining or renewing business visas that are fundamental to an employee's role within the Company will be reimbursed with prior approval from the department VP.

Baggage Fees/Tips

Actual reasonable amounts will be reimbursed for normal baggage handling and tips.

Laundry/Valet/Dry Cleaning

Reasonable cost is reimbursable if travel requires either:

- An absence from your base location in excess of five (5) consecutive days, or
- Unusual circumstances which make such costs necessary on trips of shorter duration

Postage/Freight

Postage/freight costs incurred for business purposes should be included in the appropriate areas on the personal expense report. Regular interoffice mail service between offices is handled through daily express packages coordinated by your local administrative personnel. Other use of express mail and other methods of rapid delivery should be utilized only as an extraordinary measure.

Other

Memberships and Professional Organizations

Employees are encouraged to actively participate in industry and professional associations as appropriate for their respective position and/or professional certifications. Memberships and dues up to $200.00 must be pre-approved by a department/division head; over $200.00 requires EVP approval.

Professional Licenses

Fees associated with obtaining or maintaining professional licenses that are fundamental to an employee's role within the Company will be reimbursed with prior approval from the Department EVP.

External Seminars

External seminars are defined as formal meetings conducted for the purpose of teaching or developing specific job-related skills. These formal sessions or courses are conducted by firms external to the Company and offer specialized educational services not provided by Corporate Training. All external seminars must be pre-approved in writing by the Department EVP before committing to attend. If the seminar is conducted at a location 100 miles or more away from home, an overnight stay will be allowed and reimbursed according to normal travel policies.

Business Meals – With Company Employees

The Company recognizes the need and effectiveness of occasional lunches and meetings to discuss business and personnel-related issues. Business meals between company employees must be paid for by the highest ranking employee present and approved in advance by the employee's manager. The expense report must contain the date, location, reason for the meal/event and the names of the attendees. This expense should be coded in Concur as "Meals – Business Related."

Staff Meetings during business hours

For coffees, luncheons, or occasions where refreshments are provided in conjunction with a staff meeting or other business meetings of employees, the invoice or personal expense report must contain information regarding the date, location, reason for the event, and information regarding the attendees.

Recognition/Team Building Events

Employee events (sales recognition, service recognition, etc.) that exceed $1,000 require the prior approval of the CFO. These events must be in the best interest of the Company.

Recognition, Awards and Gifts

All employee rewards must be assigned through Human Resources. Please contact your HR department for guidance. Gifts of any nature (birthday, holiday, etc.) are non-reimbursable. Flowers and other forms of recognition of life events must be sourced via your HR department or local administrative assistant.

Non-Reimbursable Expenses

Certain expenses are not reimbursable by policy of the Company. Types of expenses which are not reimbursable include but are not limited to the following and as indicated elsewhere in this document:

- Childcare and/or dependent care, animal boarding and house sitting fees
- Personal credit card annual fees
- Fines for traffic/parking violations
- Personal items and services, including clothing, entertainment, reading materials, toiletries
- Thefts, loss or damage of personal property (including by airlines)
- Unexplained expenses
- Spouse/Companion travel
- American Express Rewards program and Delinquency Fees
- Health Club, Country Club or other private club fees/dues
- Additional Travel/Flight Insurance
- Charitable Donations (must be made via Company check)
- Upgrading flights
- In-room and in-flight movies
- Car washes, oil and mechanical work for vehicles
- Airline, rental car and travel club membership dues
- Cell Phone hardware

As always, good judgment is required in determining the appropriateness of expenses to be charged to the Company. If you have any questions about whether an expense is reimbursable, please contact concuradmin@planview.com.

Appendix A - Customer Billable Travel

All Planview employees are subject to the rules and guidelines outlined in the Business Travel and Expense Policy, unless a specific exception applies as noted in this Appendix.

The Company recognizes that employees conduct travel that is reimbursable by the customer based on contract the Company has with those customers. This addendum applies to travel related to services when there is an agreement that the customer will reimburse the Company for the employees travel and living expenses in conjunction with the services they are providing.

Should a services agreement with a given customer provide for specific travel and living guidance different from this policy or Appendix and the travel is billable, the customer policy shall prevail. The EVP, Planview Consulting, or a delegate thereof, shall be given the opportunity to review and concur with customer policies prior to inclusion in contracts. The assigned Planview Engagement Manager is responsible for dissemination of contractual obligations to all other consulting staff providing services to that customer; however, consulting staff should take it upon themselves to verify customer limitations and requirements prior to booking travel.

When there is no commercial arrangement for the reimbursement of travel expenses for a customer, e.g., expenses are blended into the rate or services are provided outside of the contractual terms where the Company is not reimbursed for travel and living expenses, the Planview Business Travel and Expense Policy and Procedures will remain as the prevailing travel policy, unless approved by the EVP, Planview Consulting.

When booking travel that adheres to a specific customer travel and living guidance policy that differs from the Planview policy, please reference this in Concur as billable and per customer policy. This will ensure timely processing within the online tool.

Customer-Designated Travel Services & Multiple Customer Travel

Employees should pay attention to the billable and non-billable items when recording travel-related expenses. When requested or required, use of a customer-designated corporate travel service or specific air carrier should be honored to the extent practical, but is not required in instances where travel involves (or negates the ability to plan) multiple-customer engagements, results in an increase in travel costs, or otherwise represents an undue limitation or burden in relation to the potential amount saved.

To minimize travel overhead, increase efficiency, and help manage costs, employees may service multiple customers within a given trip. When such is the case, expense reports shall be annotated accordingly in remarks, including the Statement of Work number of the other customer engagement(s) with which costs were split. Reimbursable travel costs will be split between customers as follows:

- Airfare – Even split of the total ticket cost between customers serviced.
- Lodging, rental car, meals, and other daily rate expenses – Split proportionally between customers based on the number of days service provided
- Other Non-Daily or Non-customer Specific Expenditures – (shuttle to/from airport, tolls, rental car gas, etc.) even split of the total cost.

Other Considerations to Note

Planview uses restricted ticketing to contain costs. Fees associated with rescheduling of engagements are the burden of the requesting party (i.e., reimbursable by the customer if the customer changes the schedule, and reimbursable by Planview if done for internal reasons).

In situations where Planview is expected to provide nearly continuous support for several months, the Engagement Manager should consider the practicality of other lodging options such as an apartment for self and other staff. Such situations will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis and agreed to by the customer in advance of any commitments.
